Personal Disclosure by Johnny Bryan Giles

I believe that honesty is the best policy and while it is said that honesty can be a double edge sword I believe that an Individuals liability and risk is drastically reduced when they remain in full disclosure. The following facts are given by me, Johnny Bryan Giles, without the legal requirement to do so and I humbly beseech the readers of this information to come to their own conclusion relative to doing business with me. I have the knowledge and skills I have today as a direct result of both the good and bad experiences of my life. Given the opportunity I can and will prove that your decision to do business with me is not a mistake.

1. I, Johnny Bryan Giles, am a convicted felon having voluntarily pled guilty to four white collar crimes in 2001 by which an active prison sentence did result. I served 23 months in a low security federal prison camp and was released onto federal probation. I served 2 years and 2 months of my 3 years federal probation and I technically violated my probation and was sentenced to a 2nd active prison term serving 14 months. I did not commit any new crimes I simply could not conform to the limitations being imposed upon me by Federal Probation.

2. I, Johnny Bryan Giles, do not possess any formal academic credentials to substantiate or validate the advanced business acumen and savvy I have.

3. My white collar crimes did result in a number of people losing money by which I became personally liable for monetary damages and restitution. I have not fully paid restitution but I intend to do so.

4. I, Johnny Bryan Giles, fully admit that I have lied in the past but I do not lie now. There are no pending criminal or civil charges against me and none are expected.

I am fully committed to conducting business in the highest ethical, legal, moral and professional manner. I ask the readers of this disclosure to judge me based on my honesty and my current ability to be an asset to them should they retain me to provide services. I strongly suggest that anyone considering doing business with me to complete their own independent due-diligence and research to determine their liability and risk in doing so and to only do business with me if they believe that doing so will not result in any damage to them. I have evolved to clearly understand that regardless of one's spiritual beliefs or lack thereof that what you put forth from your being comes back multiplied therefore I am mindful of my actions. I operate all of my individual business entities under the self-titled sole-proprietorship Johnny Bryan Giles that I refer as subsidiaries. I thank you for reading my disclosure and I respect your decision relative to doing business with me or not. I will openly answer any additional questions you may have that are deemed appropriate. Thank you, Johnny Bryan Giles!
